REDWOOD CITY WOMAN'S CLUB HAS HAD ACTIVE CAREER

Besides Establishing Social Center For Strangers Has Assisted Many Public Movements

One of the charter members of the Redwood City Woman's Club has made the following contribution, believing it will be of interest to the public at large:

The Redwood City Woman's Club was organized on June 12, 1909, with 33 members. On September 16 of the same year it was incorporated under the laws of California, its object being:

"To promote acquaintanceship and good fellowship and co-operation among the women of the vicinity; to create a recognized center where questions of importance may be freely discussed and acted upon and to form an agency through which helpful and uplifting inuences may be extended."

The time seemed particularly fit for such an organization, as the Dingee property had just been subdivided and put on the market and a great many strangers were coming to Redwood City to make their permanent homes. They were met and made welcome at the club rooms and through the club soon became a corporate part of the social and philanthropic elements of our town.

It seemed to be of the first importance to provide a social center of our own, so all our first efforts were bent on securing a club home. Baldwin & Howell very generously donated to us the lot 75x130 feet in size on Clinton street, where our cozy clubhouse now stands.

Entertainments of various kinds were given, but the most successful was the editing and publishing of a special edition of the Redwood City Democrat, which netted us one thousand dollars. By that time we felt justified in building. Plans were immediately drawn and we were soon installed in our new home.

Since that time the club has been active in all movements for the betterment of our town and the uplift of humanity. Our policy has never been an aggressive one, but we have tried in a quiet way to be a useful element in our community.

We erected the first mission bell at the intersection of Broadway and El Camino Real; were instrumental in having a drinking fountain installed in front of the grammar school, which was dedicated to the memory of Horace Hawes, who gave so liberally to our early schools and churches; also through our efforts a light was kept burning at the Southern Pacific station until after the arival of the late trains.

We co-operated with the town in putting on elaborate May fetes and providing Christmas dinner for the needy. In fact, we have helped what we could whenever any call for help was made.

During the war the club was very active in Red Cross work and the members met regularly to sew and make dressings for the boys "over there," giving a whole day of each week. When the war was over the activity did not cease, but time was given to making garments for the needy to be distributed through the county social service commission, and this work has been kept up continuously ever since, two days each month being given to this work.

We found it convenient to do our work in the storeroom of the commission though, as it is well equipped with sewing machines, cutting tables and plenty of she't room for materials and finished garments.

Something over a year ago we appointed a committee headed by Mrs. Isslenborn to take up the matter of our town library and see what could be done toward bringing it up to a better standard of efficiency. I don't need to mention how well the commitee succeeded, as one visit to the library will tell it all.

At Christmas time we have an entertainment and tree for the children under the care of the social service commission, and last Christmas we had 86 kiddies there, all of whom were given ample stockings packed with useful articles as well as toys, candy, fruit, etc.

Two months ago we raised $125, which we turned over to the commission to provide milk for undernourished children whose parents were too poor to buy it for them.

We bought Liberty Bonds and recently have taken a membership in the chamber of commerce. We made it possible for Chautauqua to come here last year and are a guarantor for this year.

These are a few of the things we have accomplished, but we hope to be able to do more and greater things in the future. What we have done fully warrants our existence.

A CHARTER MEMBER.

WASHINGTON SANITARY DISTRICT BEATEN BY 8

The election held last Saturday to form the Washington sanitary district resulted in the proposition being defeated by a vote of 66 against and 58 for. This is the second time the formation of the Washington sanitary district has been voted down, an election a year aga resulting in defeat by a majority of one. The law provides that the residents of a district must wait a year before calling another election. The excitement over the formation of the district has been intense ever since the filing of the petition by Mrs. W. A. La Dieu Imemdiately after ordering the election on the La Dieu petition the board of supervisors ordered an election for the proposed Fair Oaks district, to include a portion of the Washington district territory.. Judge Buck annulled the action of the board in calling the second election. Protest was made against the Washington district election on the ground of insufficient signatures, but the board of supervisors refused to accept the protest.

CAN YOU "PUT AND TAKE?" JOIN THE LATEST CLUB

A new club has been organized, known as the "Put and Take Club." The members are men about town well known to the community of Redwood City. Meetings are held at the Sequoia Hotel at a late hour, owing to the various lines of business the members are kept late. The principle of the club is to get together and make everyone forget his troubles. Sol Summerfield had a party down to visit Redwood on Sunday. Summerfield is connected with the Southern Pacific and was here for some time. A. J. Quinn, known to every business man, was entertained last Wednesday night. He had with him Mr. Wagner, a wholesale jewelry marchant.

There is always someone around to answer calls of trouble or emergencies at any time while Redwood sleeps. W. J. O'Brien, manager of the Sequoia Theater, announces a dance and reception to be given after Easter week, invitations to be given by the members to their friends. It is assured that it will be one of the greatest affairs given in Redwood. Those fortunate enough to receive invitations will certainly remember it. There will be dancing, singing and speaking by the members, also refreshments served. No charges. Strictly invitational.

While in Europe Miss Thomson visited Paris, Berlin, Munich, Dresden and other points of interest. They returned to New York last month and after visiting relatives returned via the southern route, the trip taking three weeks.

Capt. Stanley Thomson has resigned his commisison in the army and has accepted a position with a produce firm in Boston.

BLOSSOM FESTIVAL

Many local residents joined the throng of autoists who journeyed to Saratoga Sunday to attend the annual blossom festival. The day was ideal and it is doubtful if there were ever so many automobiles on the highway at one time before. There was a steady stream from morning to night and the traffic officers at the different crossings had their hands full handling the big crowds.

The property has a frontage of 40 feet on Broadway. If rumor is correct the price paid was $400 a front foot, which sets a new standard of value for Redwood City realty.

A story which seems to have some foundation is that the building has been purchased for Roos Brothers, the well known clothing firm of San Francisco and Palo Alto. It is expected that they will put an up to date establishment here.

A number of permits for 1 o'clock dances were granted.

The finance committee is only a temporary affair.

The only action taken concerning business other than the organization of the board of directors was the adoption of a resolution commending the bond issue to buy the water works.

RACERS WILL TRY HARD FOR RECORDS EASTER DAY

Word from San Francisco is that drivers of speed chariots that are to be entered in the Golden Gate motor derby that is to be staged on the San Francisco speedway at San Carlos on Easter Sunday, April 16, began arriving from the southland last week. Several of them have already established their training camps and are tuning up their motors for the big race.

Without exception the pilots who have looked over the San Carlos track declare that a new world's record will probably be established during the Easter day race. Supporting this opinion is the fact that many of the drivers have faster cars than they have ever piloted on speedways. All of the drivers also say the San Carlos track is in better shape than it was last December when the initial race on this speedway was staged.

Automobile race followers are particularly interested in what Tommy Milton and Rosco Sarles will do. Milton is the winner of last year's American automobile racing championship, with Sarles as his closest contender for this honor. This year Sarles is the avowed Nemesis of Milton, but has already suffered one defeat in the national series, Milton winning the Washington's Birthday classic at Los Angeles in February.

While Milton is confident of defeating Sarles in the Easter Sunday race he admits he is keeping a keen eye on him. But Sarles is not the only driver Milton is thus watching; Harry Hartz, Peter de Paola and other youngsters of the speedways of their types are giving the champion equally as much concern. The younger boys are aware of this and are striving their utmost to give to Milton good cause for this apprehension and propose to give Tommy the tussle of his career on Easter day.

Mrs. E. T. McGettigan is visiting her daughter, Joan, in Oakland this week.

VOTE FOR THE WATER PROJECT

The electors of Redwood City will be given the opportunity Monday of voting for or against the proposition of bonding the municipality for $30,000 with which to purchase the properties and plant of the Redwood City Water Company. We believe the town should own and operate as many of its public utilities as possible. The Redwood City Water Company has developed a reasonably good system of wells and sells its product to the city for a reasonable price. It has always made some money for its shareholders. To be sure the returns this year were not great, still there was a slight profit. The water company has offered its holdings at a fair price. We feel that the city would do well to acquire this property.

THE ELECTION

The city election which will take place next Monday promises to be rather a quiet affair. It is conceded on all sides that Henry Beeger will be high man. Doubt is expressed in some quarters as to whether Mayor Mark E. Ryan or Councilman George Kreiss will pull into second place. Mr. Kreiss is making a determined campaign for votes while Mr. Ryan is depending on his friends for support.

Personally we are strong for Beeger. He is a fine, clean young man. He has been successful in business and is a graduate of Stanford University. At one time he was a city employe, so he will bring a knowledge of civic affairs with him when he takes his place on the council.

Concerning the other two we believe that Mr. Ryan will be elected. During his term he has attended strictly to business. He is the chief of the fire department and will get strong backing from that source.

EFFECTIVE, NOT SPECTACULAR

The remark of a prominent magazine editor that President Harding has no elements of spectacularity is absolutely true. When Mr. Harding was a newspaper editor he permitted no sensationalism in his columns. Every line of his paper was fit to read in any home.

His service in the senate was without a single appeal to the galleries or to the writers of headlines. His campaign for the presidency was conducted with all the dignity that is becoming to a contest of that national importance.

In private life Mr. Harding was a careful, enterprising, dependable business man; in public life he has conducted himself in accordance with habits of thought and action formed in many years of practical experience in dealing with his fellow men.

He has not pretended that he alone can save the nation from its ills nor has he assumed that in him alone are all wisdom and virtue centered. Like the head of every great business concern in private enterprise, he called to his aid men of high ability and entrusted to them the duties and responsibilities of the several departments No branch of the government service has been compelled to delay its work while waiting word from him Recognizing the limitations of time and human strength, he has been willing that others shall exercise power and he has been generous in according them full credit for what they have accomplished

Mr Harding has made the White House the headquarters of a truly popular government, restoring significance to the name of democracy. Little of this could have been written concerning Mr. Harding if he had given himself up to spectacular efforts.

STATE SCRIP TO BE SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION

A public auction sale of state scrip will be held by Surveyor General W. S. Kingsbury at the state capitol, Sacramento, Monday, May 1.

State scrip is the cheapest land scrip on the market today.

Scrip can be purchased only by citizens of the United States who are residents of California and can be located on any vacant non-mineral unreserved United States government land in California

Homestead and desert land entrymen can relinquish their entries through the surveyor general's office and acquire title to the land by purchase of the scrip, provided the land is not withdrawn by the federal government for public purposes prior to the date the land is scripped The applicant need not live on or improve the land

State scrip is not transferable

Scrip is sold in 45-acre lots for cash, personal checks received, but no purchaser can buy more than 640 acres and the surrender of the scrip is payment for an equal acreage of government land

At the last auction sale of state scrip the price received averaged $6.33 per acre.

All money received from the sale of state scrip goes to the support of the public schools of the state.

For circular giving information concerning state scrip address the state surveyor general Sacramento.

When a man boasts that no woman ever made a fool of him, he's ripe for one of them to do it.

WILL BEGIN WORK ON EAST SIDE ROAD

The first definite steps toward determining ways and means of building the much needed east side highway through San Mateo county, following the filing with the board of supervisors of the preliminary report of County Surveyor George A. Kneese, were taken Monday when on motion of Supervisor Brown the board called a special meeting to be held next Tuesday morning. At the suggestion of Mrs. Brown representatives of South San Francisco, Daly City, San Bruno, Burlingame, San Mateo, Redwood City and of the Peninsula Bureau of Chambers of Commerce and Civic Organizations were invited to attend the meeting. The matter of financing the highway will be gone into and an effort made to determine just what course to pursue in order that the highway may be constructed in the near future.

The estimate of the cost of the highway submitted by the county surveyor is $718,850. This is admitted beyond the bonding limit of San Mateo county and even if the cost were within the limit it is contended by many that a bond issue would never carry, for the reason that the highway is more necessary to San Francisco and the state in general than it is to San Mateo county and there is no good reason why San Mateo county should pay more than its proportionate cost of other state highways. Should the highway be built by state funds it would be necessary to take the matter before the next session of the legislature. These matters and all other suggestions will be discussed in detail at the meeting on April 11, when the members of the board hope to have a large gathering of representative San Mateo county citizens.

The board also took the first public step toward the building of the Dumbarton bridge, when Supervisor MacBain, District Attorney Swart and County Engineer Kneese were appointed as a committee to meet with the San Francisco board of supervisors to discuss building of the bridge jointly with San Francisco. It was announced that following this preliminary meeting a general meeting of prominent citizens of San Mateo county would be called to consider the proposition.

All members of the board were present at the meeting. After routine business and official reports had been disposed of a bond was presented by C. A. Hooper & Co., guaranteeing payment of taxes in the Vera Avenue Villas tract in the southern part of Redwood City, which was ordered filed and the clerk instructed to sign the map of the tract for recording.

A petition of Asa Hull and 85 other residents of San Carlos asking for the formation of an improvement district was presented and a resolution was adopted instructing the county surveyor to prepare plans for improvements.

The board canvassed the returns on the Washington sanitary district election, showing 58 for and 66 in opposition, and declared the proposition defeated.

The district attorney reported on the petition of residents on Brattle street Menlo Park, for lighting. It was shown that as the street has not been accepted as a public thoroughfare the supervisors have no jurisdiction.

On motion of Supervisor Brown it was ordered that the coast side traffic officers were ordered to be at the speedway at San Carlos on Easter Sunday to help handle crowds.

Mrs. Edith Lindow requested opportunity for blindcraft to bid on furnishings for the new community hospital. She was informed that bids will not be requested till near the close of the year, when all parties so desiring can bid.

Millbrae school district election returns were received, but as there was no affidavit of publication of the election notice the board postponed the canvass for one week.

The board decided to visit the Bean Hollow trestle on the road 3 miles south of Pescadero and decide on the spot what repairs should be made. The county engineer had reported the trestle unsafe.

John Gonzales asked permission to peddle fruits and vegetables in Redwood City and his application was referred to the district attorney.

S. D. Olofsson of Halfmoon Bay asked for a permit to put up a signboard on Venice boulevard. Supervisor Francis will investigate and report.

Residents of San Carlos asked for the formation of a sanitary district. The matter will be considered at the next meeting.

M. J. Conway asked for permission to stretch a banner across the highway at Fifteenth or Sixteenth avenue announcing an auction sale of lots in Hayward Park. The board said he could go ahead so far as its jurisdiction was concerned.

R. V. Chase entered complaint of the condition of the Montara mountain road and the matter was referred to Supervisor Hickey.

The price of inspecting hogs was reduced from 50 cents to 25 cents a head on petition of B. D. Weeks of San Gregorio.

The contract for resurfacing part of the road from Pescadero to the Santa Cruz county line was let to the California Construction Company for $43,550. The cost had been estimated at $50,000.

Permanently Removing Spots by the

F. Thomas Process

If spots come back after your clothes have been to the cleaners, they haven't been thoroughly cleaned.

Spots that appear in clothing caused by grease, food stains, etc., quickly collect dust and dirt. They can be permanently removed by the "F. Thomas Process" without injury to the fabric.

The "F. Thomas Process" is a highly developed, scientific method of cleaning by which we obtain the perfect work for which this establishment is noted.

Every drop of cleaning fluid that we use is carefully re-distilled in our plant. Special equipment that we have installed to properly handle this work represents an investment of thousands of dollars.

The cheap, "just as good" cleaner either washes your clothes in dirty gasoline, or scours his gasoline with strong sulphuric acid. It is dangerous to have your clothes cleaned in "acid" gasoline. It is economy in the long run to have your clothes cleaned by the "F. Thomas Process."

Duck Hunter Becomes Sculler

By CLAUDE FOX

Story No. 50

As time went by with the fleeting years the duck hunting boys of yesterday were brought sterly face to face with the proposition that each successive year the wild birds of the marshland were becoming scarcer. No longer did the grain fields of the peninsula yield up their thousands upon thousands of whistling widgeon each successive winter; the bundles of little green winged teal were not forthcoming as they had been in years past; the honker and the speckle breasted brandt were fast bidding us goodbye; the spoonbill had even left us and the little gravel bed, the little pond and the fourth fence were neglected by the feathered tribe. The market hunter was not getting near the bags he did in former years. There was a reason for this sudden change and one which was quite apparent. The farmer was no longer sowing the broad acres between here and San Jose with golden grain. There was no money to be made in what had been a profitable occupation, and everything was let go for volunteer. Hay could be raised at a profit; the grain could not. The great majority of the webfoot passed on to a location where food was more plentiful.

When the situation was apparent and "duckitis" still held me in its grasp I decided that the only thing left was to follow in the footsteps of the market hunter and acquire the art of sculling. All the old-timers will remember the family of Pete Leathers, a pioneer of this city, who was engaged in the hay and grain warehouse business on the property now owned by S. H. Frank & Co. There were three boys in the family—Dick, Joe and Ben. The first named two had gone up to Astoria and engaged in the boat building business. Ben, the youngest, had remained at home and it was with him that I took my first lessons in sculling, or propelling a boat with a large sweep or oar through a hole in the stern of the boat. The Leathers boys had built a number of small boats on the creek here before they went north and Ben possessed a little beauty which he could handle like a veteran.

Sculling a boat looks difficult, but it is easily acquired and when once the stroke is learned it is never forgotten. But how I did try before accomplishing my object. Ben was a good tutor with lots of patience and it was not long before the stroke had been mastered by me. There was considerable to learn yet, however, and before I had successfully sculled my first flock of ducks it was, so to speak, a long road to Tipperary. To propel the boat forward was one thing. To send it ahead without a wobbly sideways motion was quite another, but I was persistent in my efforts until my ultimate object was arrived at. It took hours and hours and then the windings of the various creeks had to be learned, the small gutters branching off from the main sloughs and the location of all the mud banks upon many of which I came to grief on a falling tide and stuck hard and fast when a good shot was almost within my grasp.

Ben was using his boat in hunting so I could only have it occasionally, but Nelson Paddock had a fine little round bottom boat called "Sis" that he kindly loaned me on numerous occasions and encouraged me in that style of hunting.

As soon as I was able to lie on my back and scull a bunch of birds my old friend, Lon Cook, who had a boat suitable for two persons, took me out on many a trip, showed me the different cutoffs through the marshes and gave me information which was valuable. Lon had hunted with Old Pete, Payne, Louis Werder and Charlie Peterson and was an enthuisastic sportsman and a good shot.

All of those old time hunters have passed away, with the exception of Louis Werder, who is living quietly at his home here and if you are anxious to hear some good old stories of the duck hunting days that have gone forever, just catch Mr. Werder in a reminiscent mood and he can tell you of some of the big shots made by the market hunters of bygone days.

At the time when I first started cut sculling Louis Werder and Charlie Peterson, or Piken, as he was called, in company with little Mon Sam, or China Charley, were hunting for the market. They were, in fact, making their living in that way and there is no question but what they looked jeauously upon the intrusion of the younger hunters into the domain occupied by themselves. Any other man who was making his living as they were would have done likewise. In our efforts to succeed we very often scared large flocks of ducks, which meant bread and butter to these old timers of the bay and tules, and that they should become annoyed at our interference was no more than natural. Many stories had been told of boats that were missing, which it was claimed had been confiscated by these old-time market hunters, filled with mud and sunk in the deep waters of the creek. However, I never heard of any tangible proof that this was so and as far as I was concerned personally, never did I lose a boat through these men, and while I was probably the cause of as much annoyance to the market hunters as anyone, the best of friendship existed between us. Much kindly advice was given me by both Werder and Piken which later on aided me materially in quest of the wild birds of the marshland. China Charley and myself had many a good hunt together long after the market hunters had retired.

Charley Piken went north sealing and was lost at the same time with a brother of Chase Littlejohn Mon Sam died here after a brief illness some few years ago.

Taking it all in all, I found the market hunters were agreeable companions. They were in no wise responsible for the ducks leaving this vicinity and I consider it an unjust, discriminating law which prevents the market hunter from following his vocation and thereby precluding the poorer class of people from enjoying a wild duck dinner, which under the laws of God and man, I believe him entitled to, irrespective of legislation promulgated at Sacramento by the avaricisous rich game hogs of the state, ably assisted by a fish and game commission, who are supposed to serve the people of this state at large, a duty which today they are making a ridiculous, miserable failure to half perform.

Quartet Is One of America's Finest Singing Groups

Personnel of New York City Concert Quartet Carries Names of Four Brilliant Artists, All of Whom Have Enjoyed Concert and Oratorio Successes in Eastern States

One of America's finest singing organizations will be enjoyed at Chautauqua the closing day when the New York City Concert Quartet appears. This is a pretty bold statement to make, but it is true nevertheless, for the personnel consists of four of New York's younger artists, all of whom are soloists of note in metropolitan musical circles, and all of whom have enjoyed considerable concert and oratorio work. John Besse, a fine lyric tenor, Albert Llufrio, second tenor and accompanist, Artells Dickson, baritone and impersonator, and Albert Erler, bass, are the four artists comprising this remarkable organization. Mr. Besse recently appeared in concert in St. Louis, and The Republic said of his work: "He has an exquisite voice of rare beauty." Musical America, commenting on the work of Mr. Erler, said: "He has a truly remarkable bass voice which has been splendidly trained, and he uses it at all times to good advantage." The Ardmore (Okla.) newspaper had this to say of Mr. Dickson, in a recent issue: "He has a splendid voice and a pleasing personality which won for him a legion of Ardmore friends. He sang the aria from 'The Messiah' in fine voice and authoritatively."

Advices from Washington would indicate that Bernard G. Larrecou is to be recommended by Senator Shortridge for the Menlo Park postmastership. In the recent civil service examination Mr. Larrecou stood second. He is a native of Menlo Park and an overseas man. He had the support of Samuel M. Mrs. Slinger claims that the marriage was obtained by fraud. According to the petition, Mrs. Henshell on March 15 told her husband she would no longer be a wife and that she was going to leave him and never come back.

Mrs. William A. Doyle was presented a past president's pin Monday night by the members of Menlo Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, at a social meeting following the regular session of the lodge. Mrs. Doyle won special mention from the lodge for her ritualistic work.
